Since the seventh (7th) grade, Chad Johnson has been assisting his father John in the development and preparation of Shiley mechanical heart valve cases. It was his father's dedication and work ethic that drove Chad to attend law school at his father's alma mater South Texas College of Law where, like his father, Chad also graduated with Honors. Thereafter, Chad attended New York University School of Law, where he earned his Legal Law Masters in Taxation. As a Partner and Associate at the Johnson Law Firm, Chad strives in achieving justice for his clients as well as promoting judicial equality through the fostering of core values.
